Loving W. Gaines, editor of the Trenton Progress, is perhaps the best known of the four candidates for lieutenant governor, by reason of his connection with the State Press Association. Nearly all of the editors of the state are his personal friends and few if any of them have failed to say a kind word for Col. Gaines. The genial Colonel is running on his own merits and has no entangling alliances with any factions of the Democratic party. His position as an officer on the personal staff of Gov. McCreary adds to his wide popularity gained as a newspaper man and his prominence in the race is everywhere recognized. Watch the Colonel come under the rope on the

BANQUET AND FUN

Made Going-Away of Company D. A Pleasant Leave-Taking.

SPEECHES AND SPEECHES

Including a Few Gas Bombs Exploded By The Visitors.

The banquet at Hotel Latham Wednesday night was a pleasant affair for Company D and the few guests so fortunate as to be on hand. After the dinner had been served, Capt. Henry J. Stites acted as toastmaster and called for a number of speeches, presiding with grace and dignity.

Col. Jouett Henry was the first speaker and gave the soldier boys some very interesting and useful "shop talk" in relation to their coming camp duties. The Colonel is always a pleasing speaker and his address was very entertaining.

Judge Walter Knight told briefly of the pride Christian county feels in the young men who compose Company D.

Mr. Geo. E. Garry paid a beautiful tribute to the virtues that go to make a true soldier and eloquently praised the boys.

Chas. M. Meacnam said he was confident that the Hopkinsville boys would perform their duties well, whether called upon to dig trenches, fight sham battles, lead the German at the military ball or present arms to the ladies.

Ira D. Smith expressed his full confidence in the claim that Hopkinsville boasted of the finest body of soldiers in the State.

Claude R. Clark told in his inimitable way of the military ardor he had always felt and while not anxious to go to war himself he took a just pride in having such fine soldiers to do his fighting.

Thos. C. Underwood twitted Col. Henry on taking up more than the four minutes allowed the other speakers, and entertained his hearers with a speech full of bright things.

Lieut. Alvin H. Clark, on behalf of the Company, said some pleasant things about the guests, and then proceeded to make the best speech of the evening, showing that all the eloquence in the Clark family is not possessed by his cousin Claude.

CITIZENS' COMMITTEE

Appeared Before Council To Ask School Bond Issue.

The committee named by the recent citizens' meeting at the Avalon appeared before the council last night and asked that a bond issue for $40,000 be ordered for November, $25,000 for white and $15,000 for colored schools. The plan is to give the old Clay street building to the colored people to help erect a $20,000 building and to sell the lot for $5,000 to make $30,000 to buy McLean College.

DASH FOR LIBERTY

Made By Lee Blakenship, a Jail Prisoner On Last Wednesday.

While painting near an opening where the trusty prisoners are allowed to pass at the jail about 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, Lee Blakenship, who was recently given a sentence of one year in jail, took advantage of the opportunity to escape and made a bold dash for liberty.

The escape of the prisoner was immediately reported to Sheriff Jewell Smith and he detailed the whole force together with Azro Mullen and Eugene Harrison and started the hunt. There were two motorcycles and one auto carrying the posse.

After making a thorough search of the places Blakenship would be liable to go, the posse separated and the different members of it lay in wait for the fugitive.

Finally Blakenship walked up to a house where Azro Mullen and Eugene Harrison had been on watch for only a few minutes. They nabbed him and he was taken back behind the bars.

WE CAN'T STAY AWAY

Is What All of The Ferrell's Boys Are Saying In Letters.

GREAT TIME A MONTH AHEAD

Buttons Ordered Will Be Ready For Distribution Next Week.

At the last meeting of the Executive Committee the various chairmen reported progress.

The order for Ferrell's Buttons was increased, as it is now evident the attendance will exceed the first estimate. The buttons will be ready for distribution next week.

The committee formally invited the Directors of the Hunting & Fishing Club and President W. T. Tandy, of the Hopkinsville Water Co., by whose courtesy the reunion will be held at the Lake Tandy club house. With these exceptions, there will be no invitations except to the Ferrell's Boys. The boys plan to get off to themselves and have a day of good fellowship. The night meeting in town will be open to the public.

Some more of the out of town boys have been heard from this week, a few of whom are here mentioned:

Dr. H. F. Litchfield, '03, Quincy, Ill. Sends photo and says "Am well established here in the practice of medicine and surgery."

Jno. Y. Owsley, '86 to '89, Salt Lake City, Utah, J. I. Case collection agency. "Sorry I can't be with you in person, tho will be in spirit." Sends photo.

Frank M. Baker, '94, Cairo, Ill., Inspector Weighing Bureau. "Am looking forward with greatest hope of being able to attend the Reunion of all the boys. Am sure this will be a great event."

Wallace Kelly, '90 to '92, Houston, Tex., Fire Insurance. "I shall do my very utmost to be with you."

Chas. F. Hoke, '89 to '91, Insurance and real estate, Atlanta, Ga. "When I come up on the 20th will endeavor to wear my sweetest smile. P. S.—Am not married yet."

Will H. Miller, '89 to '90, Louisville, Ky., accountant. "It is with much pleasure that I can say I have arranged to be with the boys at the Ferrell reunion in August."

THE OLD ACADEMY:

One of the boys in writing asks if the old school house is still standing. That is one of the surprises in store for the boys. Thirteenth street has been extended through the old grounds on the south side, cutting off a strip of ground at the Western end, which has been taken into the old Pioneer Cemetery. This is a part of the ground upon which the stables stood. Upon this part of the school yard, now in the Cemetery, there should be a memorial erected to Maj. Ferrell by his former students. The old school house is still there but would never be recognized. It has been divided and the rooms used in part in building a row of cottages on the grounds, facing the new street above referred to. The old Cemetery has been cleaned up and 25 nice young trees are growing in it.

Baseball Dope.

Bill Cox, the clever and snappy backstop of the Western State Hospital team, who broke his leg sliding into third this spring, is nearly well and should be in the game again in a week or so.

Scott Means, the local baseball star who is making so good in the infield of the Madisonville Sensibles, was in town Tuesday to see the "Co. D." boys off for the encampment. He left yesterday to join the team again, having secured leave to remain at home.

A fourth letter was received at New Orleans by "Pearce," saying it was his last one before the "Howth Head goes down." The letter was sent a newspaper.

MEETING IS CALLED

To Organize a Dixie Bee Line Highway Association.

FOR CHRISTIAN COUNTY, KY.

Date Is Next Tuesday at Ten O'clock a. m. at H. B. M. A.

President J. O. Cook, of the H. B. M. A., has called a meeting for next Tuesday at 10 o'clock for the purpose of organizing the Dixie Bee Line Association for Christian county.

This step is necessary to keep pace with other counties and to start the actual planning for the gap of road needed from Crofton to Mannington. Decidedly the best route for this road, at least a part of the way, would be the old abandoned roadbed of the L. & N. railroad, which is already graded and is much more direct than the Madisonville road that winds in and out among the hills.

This may not be feasible, however, since the impression prevails that the L. & N. is not enthusiastic over the possibility of having its line paralleled by a great motoring highway.

S. S. WORKERS CONVENED

Yesterday and Held Three Interesting Sessions--Address- es By Dr. Joplin.

The Christian County Sunday school convention, with Fred Harned presiding, was in session all day yesterday at the Christian church. Many delegates were present from Sunday schools all over the county. The delegates were taken to the Pennycroft building for dinner.

A choir made up of the members of the different churches in the city helped in the musical program. Mrs. Henry Perkins had charge of the music.

In the morning W. T. Fowler made an address of welcome in behalf of the schools of Hopkinsville.

An address was made during the morning by Rev. E. E. Gabbard, who spoke of the opportunities of Sunday school teachers.

Mrs. Elizabeth Gish Seargeant led a Round Table discussion of Primary Methods.

The principal address of the morning was made by Rev. Geo. E. Joplin, the General Field Sunday School Secretary. His subject was Goals. In the afternoon Will Cate made a talk on Temperance in the Sunday School. Dr. Lewis Powell made an address on Missions and Douglas Graham led a Round Table on the subject of Superintendents' work.

At the evening session Rev. Joplin delivered a very instructive and interesting address to the convention. His subject was "The World's Task."

SPRINGS A SURPRISE

Von Hindenburg Takes Russians Completely by Surprise in New Offensive.

ALLIES TAKE TWO TRENCHES

British Hope to Exhaust Ammunition of Turk Soldiers Soon.

London, July 16.—Abandoning for the time their attempt to outflank Warsaw from the south, the Germans, probably under Field Marshal von Hindenburg, who is reported to have said a few days ago that he would astonish the world, have renewed their attack on the Polish capital from the north.

They have not only captured many prisoners south of Lado, according to Berlin, but have occupied Przemysl, a fortified town fifty miles north of Warsaw, which was taken by Von Hindenburg last winter, but retaken by the Russians in their counter offensive.

This claim is partly confirmed by yesterday's Russian official report, which stated that the Russians, in the face of strong German forces, withdrew to their second line of entrenchments.

In the west the Argonne is the scene of the hardest fighting, but of the operations here, as elsewhere in the west, official accounts are contradictory. At any rate, no great movement has been undertaken and no big change has occurred in the line.

Confirmation was received tonight from General Sir Ian Hamilton of the success, which for some days the allies were reported to have achieved on the Gallipoli peninsula. According to this report, two lines of Turkish trenches were captured, with 400 prisoners. The Turks, however, claim to have repulsed the allies' attacks. As anticipated, progress against the Turks is slow. But British military authorities express satisfaction with the gain of an occasional line of trenches, relying on breaking the morale of the Turks and on the exhaustion of their ammunition supply. Germany's eagerness to have Rumania allow the passage of ammunition through that country to Turkey is taken to mean that the supply is running short.

The order was issued after many complaints had been received by the chief that the sidewalks were blocked with men standing on the pavements watching the girls ride by.

The Hon. H. V. McChesney, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor in the August primary, will speak at Hardinsburg next Saturday, July 17, at 1 o'clock p. m. Mr. McChesney has a message, not only for Democrats, but for all the people. Go out and hear him.—Breckenridge News.

Since Mr. McChesney is engaged in a contest in which none but Democrats can vote, it is not clear what is meant by the above appeal to "all the people."

Should diplomatic relations come to an end, the German Empire would be deprived of the good offices of American embassy and consular officials in twenty-two countries, with stations in three-score cities and localities. Should a state of war be declared, seventy German and Austrian ships (of which 56 are German) are interned in American ports, and these, together with wireless towers at Tuckerton and Sayville and valuable German property in the United States and its dominions would be secured without a blow.

It is estimated that the lamb and wool crop of Kentucky this season will be worth $8,000,000 and will exceed in value that of the wheat crop. There are a number of farm products besides tobacco which Kentucky can raise as well as any State if her farmers will only once get started in earnest. Tobacco, if raised at all, should be a side crop, so that if anything goes wrong in season or marketing, it will not make much difference. Too much dependence in tobacco has impoverished many Kentucky farmers.—Hartford Herald.

The Mayfield Messenger, the leading prohibition paper of the First district, comes out strong for Stanley this week, saying: "Nominate Mr. Stanley and the republican ticket will virtually be eliminated. The republicans are badly disturbed on account of Stanley's chances to get the nomination. One year ago Mr. Beckham received in this congressional district 7,580 votes and Mr. Stanley received 6,116, which shows that Mr. Beckham's vote was 1,414 over Mr. Stanley. Mr. Stanley will get more votes in the district this time than Mr. Beckham's vote one year ago."

OVERLOOK THE GARDEN

Average Farmer Fails to Appreciate Rare Privilege.

One That is Poorly Planned and Not Well Kept is Anything But Good Advertisement—Value Cannot be Reckoned in Money.

(By O. M. CLARK.)

The pleasure and profit to be derived from a good vegetable garden is a privilege enjoyed to its fullest extent only by those leading a rural life; but, strange to say, the average farmer painfully fails to appreciate this rare privilege. In fact, in many cases he neglects this opportunity to such a pitiful extent that we are prone to think that he, more than any other person who pretends to have a garden at all, needs to be urged to have, and informed how to make and maintain, a good vegetable garden. The farmer used to large areas of general farm crops feels that he is stooping from his dignity or is wasting his time when he undertakes anything so small as he imagines the vegetable garden to be; consequently, he plows it, perhaps, and leaves the planting and tilling to the "women folks." As a matter of fact, there is not on the farm a piece of land of the same area, the profit of which approaches anywhere near to that of the vegetable garden. An authority on this subject says: "From careful observation the statement can be safely made that a well-kept garden will yield a return 10 to 15 times greater than would the same area if devoted to general farm crops." Besides, the fact that there can be had at a minute's notice a bountiful supply of fresh, clean vegetables is a value that cannot be reckoned in dollars and cents.

A Handy Garden Tool.

ed to general farm crops." Besides, the fact that there can be had at a minute's notice a bountiful supply of fresh, clean vegetables is a value that cannot be reckoned in dollars and cents.

The great question of keeping the boy and girl on the farm would be more than half solved if people would only realize the important part the vegetable garden plays in this regard. It is hardly likely that too much attention can be given the vegetables, for if there is a surplus of any kind of produce, a ready market may be found for it in the nearby towns.

In locating the garden, the question of its proximity to the house is of vast importance. It is naturally most of the work is done during spare moments that could not be taken advantage of if the garden were located a half mile from the house. Too often it is the case that all of the gathering and most of the work is done by the farmer's wife. Even when the work is done by a man, the women of the household go back and forth between the house and garden many times during the year. All these things tend to add to the work of the already overburdened housewife, which condition could be materially improved by exercising a little care and forethought in locating the garden spot.

The general lay of the land determines to a considerable extent the earliness of the garden crops. Well-drained land sloping gently to the south or southeast is preferable for the production of early vegetables. Wind barriers, such as hills, woods, hedges, buildings, etc., on the north and northwest produce much the same effect. If none of these are so located that they can be taken advantage of, a tight board fence will answer the purpose, and at the same time act as a safeguard against farm animals and poultry. Choose a location that is well drained or bring it to this conditions after it has been chosen. None of the vegetables will tolerate "wet feet." In many cases it will pay a hundred per cent to tile drain the garden.

BAD DISEASE AMONG CATTLE

Infectious Abortion Entitled to Rank in Importance With Tuberculosis and Hog Cholera.

Infectious abortion among cattle has become one of the most serious problems for cattle owners so far as infectious diseases are concerned. It is well entitled to rank in importance with tuberculosis, hog cholera and Texas fever. Two new medical treatments have recently appeared, either one of which may possibly prove to be of very great importance. One abortion is used, like tuberculin, as a diagnostic; and the other is a vaccine, which it is hoped will immunize heifers against the infection. There is not sufficient reliable information available as yet, upon which to justify any definite statement. Breeders should keep these things in mind and

FARM POULTRY

INFERTILE EGGS KEEP BEST

Do Not Permit Male Bird With Flock After Hatching Season—Farmer Sustains Big Loss.

It is conservatively estimated that there is an annual loss in eggs in this country of $45,000,000. Practically all of this enormous loss is sustained by the farmers of this country, as it is on the general farms that the great bulk of eggs is produced. A very great part of this loss can be prevented by the production of infertile eggs, which are laid by hens that do not have a male bird with them. The male bird has no influence whatever on the number of eggs laid. Therefore, as soon as the hatching season is over the male should be removed from the flock.

The greatest trouble from blood rings in eggs occurs in hot weather. Special care should be given to the gathering and storing of the eggs during the late spring and summer months. At these times the eggs should be gathered at least twice a day, placed in a room or cellar where the temperature does not rise above 70 degrees Fahrenheit, and marketed two or three times a week.

Blood rings are caused by the development of the embryo of a fertile egg and its subsequent death. It is impossible to hatch an infertile egg or cause a blood ring to form in one. It is generally considered that eggs become infertile from seven to fourteen days after the male bird is removed from the flock. Repeated experiments have shown that where fertile and infertile eggs are kept under similar conditions, the fertile eggs spoiled much quicker, due to the fact that they deteriorate faster than infertile eggs in the average summer temperature. Summer heat has the same effect as the hen or incubator on fertile eggs. Sell, kill, or confine the male bird as soon as the hatching season is over.

CHIEF CAUSE OF BLACKHEAD

White Hollands Do Not Visit Corn Fields in Fall Gorging Themselves on Unripened Grain.

An experienced poultry raiser was asked why so few White Holland turkeys were afflicted with blackhead. Was it because they are more hardy than any other breed of turkey?

His reply was that while the constant introduction of new blood into the White Holland would produce a more robust specimen than the Bronze, the latter breed being so common in neighborhoods that the stock is apt to be related, he believed the real reason for the absence of blackhead in White Holland flocks was the fact that, as a rule, they do not visit corn fields in the fall, gorging on unripened grain, which is the chief cause of blackhead in turkeys.

White Holland Turkey.

BIG LOSS IN YOUNG CHICKS

On Many Farms It Will Run From 25 to 30 per cent—Sour Milk Offsets Digestive Troubles.

On many farms well equipped with poultry appliances the loss in young chicks will run as high as 25 and 30 per cent.

What, then, must it be on farms where the chickens are not provided with extra good houses, warmth and care except such as the hen gives?

But nowadays on such farms as these last the feeding of good, fresh, sour milk has greatly raised the list of the chicks that live. Sour milk offsets the digestive troubles that cold and bad care brings about and gives the strength meat gives to the growing chick.

Make Best Roosts.

Two-by-fours make better roosts than round poles that the fowls can put their toes around. Put the four such surface up. Hens rest on their breast bones instead of their legs, and the hens will not get crooked breast bones from resting on two-by-fours.

INCINERATION IS BEST

Only Really Sanitary Way to Dispose of Dead Poultry.

To Throw Bodies on Manure Heap is to Invite Spread of Disease—Small Crematory is Within Reach of Poultry Man.

(By R. PEARL.)

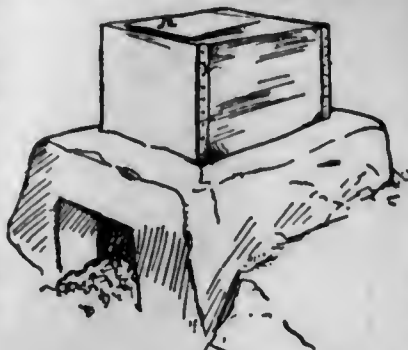

On every poultry plant and around every farm there is bound to occur from time to time a greater or less number of deaths of chicks and adult fowls from disease or other natural causes.

The disposal of these dead bodies offers a problem to the poultryman, the correct solution of which may in many cases become a very important matter. This is especially true in the cases of death from contagious diseases. The method usually practiced by the farmer and poultryman for the disposal of dead carcasses is sanitary in the extreme. To throw the dead bodies on the manure pile is to invite the spread of the disease. Burying is far from being a satisfactory way of dealing with the matter. Unless buried deeply, there is likelihood that dogs or other marauding animals will dig out the carcasses and scatter parts of them on the top of the ground.

The only really sanitary method of dealing with dead bodies is to incinerate them. The difficulty of following this plan is that the farmer usually does not have any suitable source of heat ready at hand at all times.

To meet this requirement there has recently been devised by the experiment station of an eastern state a small crematory, which in point of cost is within the reach of every poultryman or farmer.

This crematory is very simple in construction. It consists of a cement base or fire box, bearing on its top a series of grate bars which are in turn covered by a cremating box or oven in which the material to be incinerated is placed.

In building this, place in the excavation for the base a quantity of loose stones and gravel to insure adequate drainage below the cement. The inside dimensions of the fire box base are 2 feet, 3 inches by 1 foot, 9 1/2 inches by 1 foot, 4 inches. The outside dimensions—3 feet, 4 inches by 2 feet, 6 inches. While the cement is still soft, place across the top some old grate bars, which form the grate on which the material to be burned is placed. The incinerating chamber is made of galvanized iron—length, 2 feet, 2 inches; width, 1 foot, 10 inches; height, 1 foot, 6 inches. In the top is cut a round hole protected by a hinged cover. The galvanized box has no bottom, but is placed on top of the grate bars and held firmly in place while the cement is worked up around its lower edges. In the back of this box is an opening for a piece of stove pipe. When not in use this pipe may be removed and stored inside the box. A large wooden box should be kept over the galvanized box, when the crematory is not in use, to protect it from the weather.

ROADS*AGITATION FOR GOOD ROADSLess Being Said About Betterment of Public Highways Than Two or Three Years Previously.What has become of the wide-spread good-roads agitation of two and three years ago? Is it dying down and giving way to something else? Have our roads been improved to such an extent that we can let up on the campaign that swept back and forth across the country or are we simply getting tired of it and somewhat indifferent about it?There is no doubt in my mind that less is being said about the necessity for bettering our roads than was said two and three and four years back, writes S. C. Varnum in Farm Progress. I must confess that in three states I have visited within the last six months I have seen nothing to convince me that we are even approaching the good roads millennium.
I believe there is more work being done in some communities than was done a few years back, but in others there is little or no change. In some neighborhoods I am sure there has been a let-up in the work since the crusade started to die down.It all turns back upon the proposition that what is everybody's business is nobody's business. We all have a spasm of the good roads fever and pitch in and help out for awhile and then our attention is gradually taken up by something else. We begin to neglect our part of dragging the roads and cease to donate work or money to the upkeep of the highways. We leave it to the road bosses or overseers and they are busy men, busy looking after their own private affairs, and the whole movement slows up.Before we have anything approaching really good roads all over the country the machinery for looking after the roads will have to be created. A county highway engineer is needed, but we need something more.
One man cannot look after all the highways, brick, stone, concrete, macadam and dirt, of any fair-sized county. We can't keep up our roads without an organization to keep after them all the time. Nor can we build them without putting more money into them and then following this up with more money. Those of us who believe the Federal government ought to build all our highways will wait a long and weary time if they wait till the government puts in the permanent roadways.We are making a great mistake if we permit the good roads movement to die. Rural credit is an important thing, better schools, and betterGood Roads in Monument Valley Park, Colorado Springs, Colo.churches are needed and better farming and marketing arrangements are of great importance, but the good roads problem will have to be partially solved before we can get the right answer to many others.At every farmers' club and grange meeting, institute and fair this year the subject should be brought up and kept up. This fall we ought to get back into the battle once more, even if it is an old struggle. We may know all about the statistics of what had roads cost us yearly, but possibly the other fellow don't, or if he did know, has forgotten. Most of our movements have to be worked out and planned for in the winter, and we must see what can be done during the coming autumn and winter for better roads.In the meantime we can drag and work and do a little missionary duty.
Keep the road drag going every hour this summer when it is needed and when you can spare the time.Commands Attention.
It is again the time of year when the subject of good roads commands practical as well as theoretical attention.Greatest Chasm.
The greatest chasm between the producer and the consumer is the mud-hole.Increases Farm Value.

able for Home Flock—Also a Wonderful Layer.(By PAUL V. IVES)
The Langshan is probably the oldest variety of standard fowl. It has been bred for many hundreds of years in the Langshan hill district of China, from which place the breed derives its name.The Langshan has been bred for so long a time that the type is fixed and practically all birds bred from a mating come very true to the ancient type.
They are so uniform that the casual observer will have difficulty in seeing any difference in them, and this feature makes them very desirable for a home flock on a gentleman's estate.
They give tone and distinction to a place that no other breed will.The Langshan is a wonderful winter layer of the largest of winter eggs, and as table fowl, too, is unsurpassed. The carcass is fine boned and white skinned, with an abundance of breast meat and very little offal for the size of the carcass. The finest of capons

Black Langshan Cock.

are made from this breed, and many good sales have been made in the last year by the breeders for this purpose.They are very hardy, grow quickly and mature earlier than American breeds. With their erect red combs, wide-standing, cordy legs; short, beautifully curved backs; broad, full breasts and wide, full-flowing tails that rise as high or tower over the head, the Langshans present a most imposing appearance and attract much attention, whether on the farm or in the show.Two colors are bred in the Lang-shans, the older and more common blacks and the whites, which are more modern but fully as useful. They are just as good layers and perhaps more beautiful than the blacks. The whites as yet do not come so true to the old type as do the blacks, nor are they quite so large. There is in the process of evolution a blue variety that will, when perfected, be, in the opinion of some, handsomer than either its black or white cousins.The Langshans are decidedly on the gain in popularity, and this with no concerted action on the part of the breeders to boom them. Breeders are unable to fill orders for eggs this spring, and anyone starting in this breed now with the idea of selling surplus stock or eggs for hatching at good prices will have the advantage of this rising tide of popularity that has set in for the Langshan.FEED COOP FOR THE CHICKSMuch Trouble Avoided by Providing Place for Little Fellows to Get Their Share of Food.In feeding a flock of chickens it often happens that the older and averted by making a covered coop for

CERULEAN ITEMS

News Notes from Springs
Chronicled by "Charlie Chaplin."

Cerulean, Ky., July 15

Believing that a few items from this famous old summer resort will be read by your many subscribers hereabout I will venture once.

The large and commodious hotel here is rapidly filling with guests from various towns: Paducah, Louisville, St. Louis, Evansville and from Texas, Arkansas and Mississippi. Mr. and Mrs. Gray, the proprietors, certainly entertain the guests royally. The hotel service is up-to-date in every respect and is winning popularity with all.

Mr. David Shoulders and nieces, Misses Thomas, of Hopkinsville, spent last week with relatives here.

The Standard Mills here, owned by Mr. Stoen, is receiving new wheat daily. His brands of flour are sold all along the main line of the I. C. R. R., as well as in all towns around here and he is doing quite a volume of business.

Present indications are that crops will be "bummers" in this county this year.

The local politicians say it is Stanley against the field for Governor—with Stanley in the lead.

If Billy Sunday (the evangelist) should come to Cerulean, what would he say?

Miss Lois Stice will return to College at Oxford, Ohio, at opening of the fall session.

In the event of war with Germany Trigg will furnish its quota of volunteers. The sentiment is "wrap the flag around President Wilson." We are with him, right or wrong—"Our Country" first last and always.

The candidates for State Senator will make a whirlwind campaign in this county next week.

It is now hoped that the persecution of Thaw is ended, that he will be freed and that both Thaw and the courts will take a rest. Prosecution and persecution are not the same in law.

No, we haven't a jitney line in town as yet.

Mrs. N. B. Morris, of Fulton, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Lillie Goodwin.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallis of Canton, will teach the public school here this fall.

Mr. Francis Fridy, of Evansville, is visiting his brother, John Fridy.

Miss Lucille Goodwin, who has a nice position in the Louisville High School, is at home spending vacation.

CHARLIE CHAPLIN.

Miss Wheeler Honored.

Miss Elizabeth Cayce entertained yesterday morning at 10 o'clock in honor of Miss Charlotte Wheeler, of Paducah, who is visiting Mrs. H. I. Minty. There were about twenty young ladies present. The guests played hearts. Delightful refreshments were served.

Women Can't Vote.

Holding that the office of State Superintendent of Schools is a constitutional office, Attorney General Garrett has decided that women cannot vote therefor, as they do not possess the constitutional requirements for suffrage.

In New South Wales there are 100,000 more men than women.

CHANGE IN THE H. B. M. A. ROOMS

Stairway Is Being Removed
And a New Office
Made.

A considerable change is being made in the front of the Cooper-Davis building on Main street. The stairway leading up to the rooms above the H. B. M. A. room is being taken out and these rooms will be reached from another stairway nearby. The driveway will be made into an office 10 feet wide and 10 feet of the present H. B. M. A. room on the south will be made into a driveway entrance to the garage in the rear, which will be made up in part by the stairway space gained on the north side. The remodeling of the rooms is already under way.

The Thaw Verdict.

Now that a jury has at last passed upon the sanity of Harry Thaw, after a hearing of three weeks, a few more legal formalities are expected to finally end a long drawn out legal contest and restore Thaw his liberty. The foreman of the jury in an interview said that he and the other members of the jury believed that Thaw was eccentric, and, possibly, mentally weak, but that they did not believe that he would harm anyone else. Thaw began his fight for freedom following the slaying of Stanford White on the roof of Madison Square Garden on the night of June 25, 1906. After two sensational trials, the first of which resulted in a disagreement, Thaw was acquitted on the ground of insanity, but was ordered committed to Matteawan.

In 1908, Thaw's counsel obtained writs of habeas corpus requiring his examination in court with a view to establishing his sanity, but these were denied.

Thaw subsequently made a dash for liberty in August, 1913, escaping in an automobile to Coaticook, Quebec, where he was arrested. He later was released and sent back across the border, being arrested in New Hampshire. There a commission declared him mentally sound. Then followed many legal battles to prevent Thaw's return to New York. He lost and was brought back here, and with those who aided in his escape, was tried on a charge of conspiracy. All were acquitted. Thaw having been declared mentally sound in New Hampshire, his counsel then started proceedings here to have his sanity established in the state which still were fighting to have him returned to Matteawan. A motion for a trial by jury was granted by Judge Hendrick April 23. The trial was begun on June 22. Thaw's actions at the climax were not those of an insane man. When the verdict was announced he arose from his seat at the counsel table turned around and grasped the hand of several of his counsel. Then he went to where his mother was sitting a few feet away and, throwing his arms about her neck, kissed her twice. As soon as the jury was dismissed Thaw crossed to the box and shook hands warmly with each of the men. His mother also shook hands with the jurymen, saying to each: "Thank you so much for all that you have done." As he left the court room with officers, a great crowd outside cheered him as he smilingly showed his pleasure.

HOSPITAL DEFEATS EARLINGTON TEAM

Real Ball Seen on the Hospital Grounds Thursday.

In the fastest and most interesting game played on the hospital grounds this year, the Western State Hospital club won a victory from the Earlington lads by the narrow edge of 1 to 0. Up to the last of the ninth neither side had scored.

Paul King, the former McLean College star twirler, who has a big reputation as an amateur ball tosser, heaved the horsehide sphere for the Earlington aggregation. Dr. Robinson worked for W. S. H. and had Earlington eating out of his hand all of the game.

The winning run came in on an error by the short stop. The score:
W. S. H. 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 1

Book Club.

Mrs. E. L. Gates, of Herndon, Ky., entertained the Howell Book Club Thursday afternoon. Each guest was given a cord to wind and after much bobbing, twisting and turning met her partner and tally at the center of the cord. Rook and tennis were played on the lawn. A delicious salad and ice course, beautifully decorated with sweet peas and nasturtiums, was served.

Entertained Book Club.

Mrs. Howard Brame entertained the Oak Grove Book Club Wednesday afternoon. A very large crowd was present and the occasion was greatly enjoyed by every one. Progressive Rook was played, there being ten tables. A salad course and tea was served, followed by ice cream, cake and candies.

Entertained by

Mrs. Cooper

Mrs. R. E. Cooper was the hostess of an attractively arranged lawn party Thursday evening at 8 o'clock to compliment her niece, Miss Mildred Cooper. The lawn and porch were artistically hung with Japanese lanterns. In the early part of the evening the entertainment took the form of progressive conversation and later some of the young couples danced on the porch by the music of a Victrola. Ice cream and angel food cake were served.

Mrs. Minty's Lawn Fete.

Mrs. H. I. Minty was the hostess of a lawn party Wednesday night at her home on the Clarksville pike, to compliment her visitors, Miss Charlotte Wheeler, of Paducah, and Shellenby Elliott, of Henderson. A large number of young people drove out from town. Delightful refreshments were served.

Appalling Slaughter.

The French Relief Society in London, which has recently made estimates of the casualties in this war, exclusive of any consideration of the Italian forces on land and sea, has found that the approximate casualties are in the aggregate 8,770,810. Probably the dead and wounded of the Italians would raise the figures to at least 9,000,000. It is estimated of the casualty list of 9,000,000 that 2,500,000 represent the killed. Russia has lost 750,000, Germany 500,000, France over 400,000 and Great Britain over 120,000. The number killed largely exceed the total population of Kentucky, Delaware and Nevada combined.

Seven Months' Term.

State Superintendent Hamlett announces that by reason of an increase of the per capita from $4.50 to $5.25 the term of the common schools will be increased from six to seven months.

Mr. Gerard was operating on a small capital and his liabilities were about equal to his assets. On June 23, only fifteen days before his death, he took out a life insurance policy for $1,000, made payable to his wife.

The Gospel Truth.

Commenting on the pending political situation in the Democratic party and the injection of the "State-wide" issue into the campaign by a coterie of "political prohibitionists," Col. Harry Sommers says in the Elizabethtown News:

"Decent Democrats, who love their party and its principles, are turning away in disgust from the worst form of party treachery which has turned a gatling gun loose in our own ranks, breaking our own lines, driving thousands to cover, while the enemy is marching in solid ranks with triumphant shouts of an apparent victory."

To which Col. Urey Woodson, of the Owensboro Messenger, truthfully adds:

"A convention before the primary for the Democrats would have obliterated all this."

PLAN SUCCESSION OF CROPS

Not Advisable to Have Second Planting of Same Crop Follow the First—Keep Land Busy.

In planning the location of crops, consideration should be given to the matter of succession, in order that the land may be occupied as large a part of the time as possible. It is not advisable to have a second planting of the same crop or a closely related crop follow the first. Cabbage should not follow cauliflower, Brussels sprouts, mustard, or kale, for many of the same diseases and insects affect all of these crops. Tomatoes, egg-plants and peppers should not follow each other. In some sections three or four crops can be grown on the same land each year, while in other sections two crops are all that can be grown to advantage. When a crop is harvested early in the season and it is not practicable to plant another vegetable for two or three months, the land may be planted to cowpeas or crimson clover. For example, after a crop of early cabbage it may not be desirable to plant another vegetable crop until late summer or autumn. In this case it would be desirable to sow cowpeas or crimson clover, to be turned under in preparation for the fall crop.

Deficient Calf Ration.

Many of the calves in the West are fed a ration consisting of corn stover, prairie hay and sometimes some corn as a grain ration. Such a ration is deficient in protein, and the animals will not do well on it. But if good clover hay is substituted for some of the roughage in this ration, the animals will make good gains at a less cost.

Unconquerable.

The habit of never being whipped, of always keeping up the fight—that is the quality of the great leader. The man who never admits defeat is the man the world has to take into account. Time and again the foe he is fighting may think they have him down. But before they know it he is on his feet sounding the advance. Such a man molds events. He helps create the new heavens and the new earth of the prophet's vision. A mighty force of the universe is the unconquerable soul!

Perfection of Manners.

To be always thinking about your manners is not the way to make them good; the very perfection of manners is not to think about yourself—Whately.

HOARD SUPPLIES OF COPPER

Germany Making Use of Other Materials—British Ate Kippers After Mud Was Scraped Off.

A Belgian officer, during a brief holiday from the trenches on the Yser, told a London Daily Express representative that the buttons on the coats of all the German soldiers recently captured by the Belgians are made of bone instead of copper, while the tinno fuses of German shells are now exclusively made of aluminum.

Private George Gallon, who is serving in the trenches at La Bassée, writing to his sister in Leeds, says: "We had four kippers for breakfast in the trench, and the Germans started to shell us while they were cooking. One shell hit the front of the trench and filled the frying pan full of dirt. So we had to scrape the kippers before eating them, but they were quite all right."

An Austrian officer taken prisoner by the Serbians was highly indignant because he was carried to prison in an oxcart—the usual mode of conveyance in Serbia. He declared: "When you have the honor of taking an Austrian officer prisoner you should at once escort him to headquarters in a motor car." ROAD BUILDING

GREAT BENEFIT TO FARMERS

Three-Hour Trip to Town Cut Down to Thirty Minutes by Advent of Gasoline Motor Car.

(By L. J. OLLIER.)

The prosperity of a state depends largely upon good roads. They mean cheaper transportation, better living conditions, and happier homes. Quick communication ranks as the great factor in the universal dissemination of knowledge. Where good roads abound sectionalism cannot exist.

The desire for good roads leading to a city that those with automobiles could have a greater pleasurable touring radius first brought the matter prominently to the fore as a good roads movement with automobile backing.

Gradually the farmer, antagonistic at first, began to take an interest. With good roads and an automobile he could cut down the three hour trip to town to perhaps thirty minutes.

Good roads brought the doctor quickly—at a time when minutes were precious. Good roads and an automobile took the family to town in the evening, something unheard of before, or to visit a friend or relative in a distant part of the county. When farmers learned that other farmers were doing these things, that good roads and automobiles made them possible, then they, too, desired good roads for their own county.

By means of the telephone and quick motor truck delivery the farmer is now able to top the market. He can rush his produce to market at the right moment to command the best price. But he could not do it were his roads not well built and in good repair. Consequently the farmer is now most active in the agitation for good roads and jealous of any legislative power delegated to irresponsible authorities.

While in time every road should be a good road, yet all the work cannot be done at once. Therefore the authorities who are building roads should see that each one is linked to another to make continuous highways. The advantage of this lies in the fact that the main arteries of travel will then first receive the attention of the good roads builders. It will also facilitate touring, in itself a valuable asset for any community.

It is interesting to note that in 1913 Ohio had the largest mileage of improved roads of any state in the Union with 28,312 miles. Indiana was second and New York third. Illinois was seventh with 9,000 miles. While New York can claim the greatest progress in road building from 1909 to 1913, having built nearly 10,000 miles in that time, I feel that the work California is now doing probably puts that state in the lead. I have just returned from California and am amazed at the

Three years ago California appropriated $18,000,000 for good roads. The various counties each appropriated in addition from $250,000 to $3,500,000 for the improvement of county roads which are feeders to the main highways. Los Angeles county has over 400 miles of improved roads. By September one will be able to drive from Los Angeles to San Francisco by the coast route and return by the valley route over continuous good roads—a boulevard 1,000 miles in length.

The same agitation that brought California its appropriation for good roads is now being waged elsewhere throughout the West. In some places actual work is in progress. The state of Utah has passed favorably upon an improved road that eventually will be part of one all the way from the Yellowstone National park to the Grand canyon of the Colorado river in Arizona.

In the East New York is working out its good roads plan and I am interested in the efforts Illinois is making to improve its roads.

Work for Convicts.

If set to work on our public highways the convicts in our prisons would go out into the world after their sentences are fulfilled better qualified to take their places as self-respecting men and stronger mentally, morally and physically. This aspect of the good roads' subject is receiving considerable attention.

A Splendid Tonic.

Cora, Ky.—Mrs. Iva Moore, of this place, says: "I was so weak, I could hardly walk. I tried Cardui, and was greatly relieved. It is a splendid tonic. I have recommended Cardui to many friends, who tried it with good results." Testimony like this comes unsolicited, from thousands of earnest women, who have been benefited by the timely use of that successful tonic medicine, Cardui. Purely vegetable, mild, but reliable, Cardui well merits its high place in the esteem of those who have tried it. It relieves women's pains, and strengthens weak women. It is certainly worth a trial. POULTRY FACTS

WHITE WYANDOTTES IN FAVOR

One of the Most Important Things for Beginner is Selection of Breed—Seven Good Characteristics.

(By JOHN C. LYSTER.)

When a beginner starts a poultry plant, large or small, one of the most important things for him to consider is the breed he wants.

If after eggs only it would be policy for him to select one of the Mediterranean breeds, such as the Leghorn. If he desires to market mature birds he should keep a meat breed like the Cornish or the Brahma. If a general purpose fowl is his aim he must select the White Wyandotte for the following reasons:

First. As layers this breed has proved its superiority to all others, as shown in three recent laying competitions, when the grand average for White Wyandottes was 190 eggs in one year—a far better record than that of the Leghorns or the Iteds.

Second. White Wyandotte eggs are large and brown, an advantage that is of great importance in the markets of my vicinity.

Third. The chicks are hardy and grow to broiler size quicker than any other breed, and the fine feathers, being white, do not spoil their appearance when dressed for market, as in the case of Breed Rocks.

White Wyandotte Hen.

Fourth. The White Wyandotte makes a good roaster and a profitable capon. The males will average about eight pounds and the females around five or six pounds.

Fifth. Pullets hatched in April, with proper housing, feeding and attention, will lay late in October, when the egg market is advancing its prices.

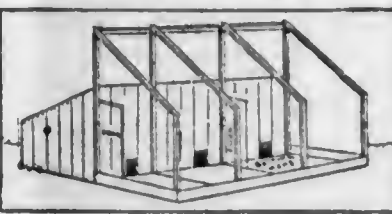

Sixth. The small, rose combs of the White Wyandotte are never frosted, thus eliminating a trouble that affects large-combed breeds in cold weather. It is generally recognized that the White Wyandotte continues laying in the coldest months.

Seventh. As mothers the White Wyandottes have no better. They are not continuously broody, but are faithful, careful and attentive when setting or mothering chicks. I have analyzed the White Wyandotte very carefully, and have failed to find any breed that combines these seven characteristic features that make the White Wyandotte a sure money-maker if given proper attention.

RATLESS PENS FOR CHICKENS

Fine Woven Wire Stretched Around Bottom of Coop Keeps Rodents Away, Thereby Saving Chicks.

Last year we had many young chickens caught by rats and eggs taken from under setting hens. This spring we made the rat-proof pens shown in the drawing, writes Mrs. E. P. Rich of Oregon in Missouri Valley Farmer. A one by six inch board was set in the ground to keep the rats from digging under. Then we stretched fine wire netting two feet wide all the way around above the board and from the top of the coop at the back, covering everything with woven wire. The enclosure was partitioned off into pens and the hens were set in the house. We kill rats or mice by spreading a thick coating of calomel on a slice of bread and butter and put where they can find it.

Ratless Pens for Chicks.

As the weather becomes warmer you will have to see that the brooder is not too warm for the young chicks. Common sense ought to teach anyone that the heat required for brooding the chicks in cold weather is not required when the weather gets warm, but we often forget these things, to the detriment of the young chicks.

Temperature of Brooder.

Dry Bran for Chicks. Dry bran placed before the chicks at the fifth day in a feed tray and compares them for the heavier dry mash which should start around the seventh to tenth day, when the chicks are ready to stand a feed that is heavier

COULD NOT STAND ON FEET

Mrs. Baker So Weak—Could Not Do Her Work—Found Relief In Novel Way.

Adrian, Mich. — "I suffered terribly with female weakness and backache and got so weak that I could hardly do my work. When I washed my dishes I had to sit down and when I would sweep the floor I would get so weak that I would have to get a drink every few minutes, and before I did my dusting I would have to lie down. I got so poorly that my folks thought I was going into consumption. One day I found a piece of paper blowing around the yard and I picked it up and read it. It said 'Saved from the Grave,' and told what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for women. I showed it to my husband and he said, 'Why don't you try it?' So I did, and after I had taken two bottles I felt better and I said to my husband, 'I don't need any more,' and he said 'You had better take it a little longer anyway.' So I took it for three months and got well and strong." — Mrs. ALONZO E. BAKER, 9 Tecumseh St., Adrian, Mich.

REBELLIOUS MINERS

One Hundred Thousand Men Quit Work, Affecting Navy's Coal Supply.

CONFERENCE HELD FRIDAY

President of British Board of Trade Met With Striking Miners.

London, July 16.—Except for two small collieries employing about eight hundred men, all South Wales coal mines from which comes coal for the navy, were idle yesterday, and miners, although the government has brought the industry under the munitions of the war act, decided not to accept recommendations to continue work day by day until an arrangement could be concluded. This action was taken despite entreaties of labor leaders. Delegates voting for the strike represent 88,950 men and those against the strike 41,500. Thus, although opposition is divided, the extremists are in the large majority. The conference, however, agreed to meet the president of the board of trade, Walter Runciman, tomorrow to discuss the situation.

All responsible labor leaders of the country oppose the strike and while it is hard to see how the government can enforce the penalties of the munitions act, it is believed the men will be influenced by the fact that they are opposing an act passed for the safety of the country.

Trips to the Cave are always fascinating, especially to the young, and everybody desires at some time to see this greatest of all caverns, the one thing above all else that makes Kentucky a mecca for tourists the world over. Even those who have seen the Cave before find something attractive in visits again and again. The Cave is so vast, its wonders so great and its attractions so numerous that one never tires of inspecting its miles and miles of underground passages.

There is not a neighborhood in Christian or adjoining counties in which some young lady cannot in one day secure 20 subscribers who will pay for a year's subscription to the Kentuckian and the deed is done, and this wonder of the world may be visited without its costing her one cent. The rules of the contest will be easily understood and capable of no misunderstanding.

Subscriptions May Be Sent In at Any Time
From Now Until September 15.

They may be for a year or fractional parts of a year to make up $40 in each club. They may be for one year or more than one, not to exceed 5 years to any one subscriber.

Voluntary renewals in the office cannot be credited to clubs. The young ladies may secure rewards but must bring or send subscriptions in themselves.

Should any girl fail to collect a full club, she may transfer her strength to some friend, or by paying the amount necessary to complete the cost of the trip in cash, she may go on the same basis as the others.

The Contest Will Begin Monday, July 19th And Close September 15th.

There will be no restrictions or limitations as to the territory. Get subscribers anywhere in or out of the county.

Only such payments on subscriptions as are made on or after July 19 will be included in clubs.

The contest will be conducted by the Business Manager of The Kentuckian and the names of those who desire to enter the contest for the trips offered will be given every possible assistance in getting up clubs.

In former contests many girls who did effective work in securing subscribers failed to secure awards, because others got more subscribers. This time every dollar collected represents a fixed value and every girl who gets up a club will be sure of the trip. The more the merrier. We would like to take 100 girls on this great outing.
